Death and Funeral of Mrs. Blair Veitch

She passed away suddenly at her home on Sunday, April 11th, 1948, at the age of 78 years. Mrs. Blair Veitch was born in 1870 in Scotland. She was married to Mr. James Veitch in 1895. She was a member of the Wainwright district for four years, later going to Manville.

With The District Agriculturist

SEED GRAIN
Due to the late spring farmers are planning to grow a greater percentage of coarse grain this year. Good clean seed of oats and barley has always been a problem in any farming district. The Alberta Seed Growers' Association has been working to secure clean seed for the district. Prices on barley run at $1.60 per bushel in cash and $1.75 per bushel on credit. Price of oats is $1.15 in cash and $1.25 on credit. These prices are for April 15 and 16, 1948.

DUTCH SETTLERS FOR FARM HELP

Single workers and families are available for immigration to Canada for farm help. The procedure for securing the services of these men is to apply direct to the National Employment Service at Edmonton. When the application is approved, it will be sent to the Netherlands Immigration Service and a man or family will be selected to move to Canada. No settlers are coming to Canada unless there is a definite application for them. The farmer making the application must guarantee the immigrant employment for 1 year.

COMING TO THE UNITED STATES

For the past several years combines have been sent to the United States for harvest. This has been a work trade basis with the U.S. combines returning to Canada if the need arises. A limited number will be granted permits to go this year. Only operators with reasonable equipment will be allowed to go and operators must be able to prove they are not needed at home during the summer months.

Applications must be in the Edmonton office of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Service before May 8th, by any parties interested in taking their combines to the States. Application forms and further information may be obtained from this office.

HAY AND FEED SUPPLIES

Farmers this year have experienced a feed shortage which has left most without any reserves of hay or straw. If our mixed farming practices are to continue we must build up that reserve as quickly as possible to be assured of lots of feed. Hay and pasture crops are easily grown in this area and tame hay will produce more tonnage and better quality feed than wild hay. Grass can be seeded with a nurse crop if put in early in the spring. Grass seedlings need a growing period in the fall after the crop is off to insure a good catch. Seed supplies are still available of all forage crops except Crested Wheat Grass.

TO ANY FARMER RECEIVING HAY FROM OUT OF THE DISTRICT

Imported hay may contain weed seeds that are not common in your district. It would be advisable to test the hay in a limited area and isolate that part from the rest of your cultivated fields in this way any weeds that start up can be watched and controlled. There is a danger with hay from Manitoba of importing Leafy Spurge, one of the four bad weeds.

CALCAREY—Dr. W. H. Hill, medical officer of health, said that a big brown rat which was killed at Aldie, Alta., about 30 miles north of here, had apparently come from Swift Current, Sask. The rat was killed in an empty railway box car by Clayton Hay, grain agent at Aldie.

Fire Protection Unit Visits Wainwright

Mr. Bedard, from the Office of the Provincial Fire Commissioner, visited Wainwright last Thursday and Friday with the new Fire Protection Instruction Unit that the government has placed into service. Mr. Bedard, who is joining the Civil Service, was employed as a fireman with the Edmonton Fire Department for 11 years and has a wide experience in fire prevention and fire fighting.

The funeral was held on Monday, April 19th from the United Church, Manville, with Rev. K. C. McLeod officiating. Pallbearers for the deceased were: Messrs. John McLaughlin, Hector Whitton, John McLaughlin, John Findlay, J. T. Veitch, J. A. Veitch.

HEATH

Mrs. P. Harvey and baby son of Dagn. Alberta, spent several days last week visiting at the home of her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. H. Bouck.

School Glee Club To Present Concert

The girls of Wainwright High School, under the direction of Miss Lillian Bloom, will present a concert on Thursday and Friday, May 4 and 5, at 8:00 p.m. in the separate school auditorium. This voluntary group of singers will present several groups of songs of varied types, accompanied by Harry Alwood, who will also play piano solos of modern composers.

The assisting artists are from Mr. H. Taylor's English class. They are preparing a scene from the ever charming comedy, "The Midsummer Night's Dream," a part of their course this year.

GILT EDGE

Mr. A. J. Muddle held his auction sale on Tuesday with a large crowd in attendance and everything sold at a good price with bidding brisk. Best wishes of the district are extended to the former Miss Lorna Reid who last Tuesday was married to Mr. Bernhard Kristensen in Edmonton. After a short honeymoon spent in Calgary Mr. and Mrs. Kristensen will make their home in Wainwright.

Surprise Birthday Party

Lorne McLeod received a pleasant surprise on Monday evening, his 18th birthday. A number of his young friends arrived at his home in a group in honor of his eighteenth birthday.

DREAM
Thomas Bailey Aldrich
When to soft sleep we give ourselves away,
And in a dream as in a fairy land
Drift on and on through the enchanted dark
To purple daybreak—little thought we pay
To that sweet bitter word we know by day
We are clean out of it, he is a lark
So high in heaven no human eye can mark
The thin, swift pinion cleaving through the gray.

Minister Entertained

Rev. and Mrs. Young were guests of honor at a social get-together by the congregation and Sunday School of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Friday evening in the class room of the church. The evening was spent in music and recitations by Joan Mockford and Audrey Dehal.

Live Rat Found In Wainwright

The prompt action of four local boys in clubbing to death a common brown rat, resulted in something unique for this district. The four boys were Eugene Abernethy, John Stinert, Don MacGregor and Bobby Leggett.

L.O.B.A. Card Party

Members of the L.O.B.A. Lodge held a successful card party in the Macdonald Hall, on Wednesday evening of last week with Mr. W. Lyle acting as M.C.

Ladies Auxiliary Can. Legion B.E.S.L.

The general monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary was held at the Legion Hut recently. Plans were made for the furnishing of the double ward at the new hospital. Many hospital visits were made this month and baskets sent. The attendance was again only fair, but with the better weather conditions we hope to see more members out at the May 17th meeting.

A well-earned roast and scavenger hunt was planned for May 11. We are campaigning the surrounding locals for support to send a delegate to the Young People's Week. At the close of the business meeting a delicious lunch was served.

What Are They? Maybe You Can Tell Us

Mr. Lewis Alexander reported to the Star this week that he had seen a flock of strange birds flying over his field recently, and he was wondering if anyone could tell him what they were. Mr. Alexander described the birds as being exceptionally big. They were of white color and had black wing tips. It was Mr. Alexander's opinion that they might have been the much sought Whooping Crane.

Spring Brings Floods As Snow Melts

The weather being somewhat warmer this past week much snow has left its place of resting for the past five months and turned into water filling every ditch and many roads with a swiftly flowing stream. The roads around Wainwright are almost impassable, and 1-1/2 miles of road is under water due to the culverts along the road not being able to carry the water away fast enough.

DANGER LURKS

Whether you live in the country or whether you live in town, there is an ever present danger that confronts each one of us at this season of the year. Spring came to this part of the country with a sudden rush, bringing with it much surface water and drain-off. This surface water was so great in many cases that it caused severe flooding and with this flooding some water has seeped into the wells of the district contaminating the water supply.

The notice issued by the Wainwright Board of Health with regard to the boiling of all drinking water is one that should not be taken lightly. It is estimated by the local doctors that with the exception of the deep wells in this vicinity there is not one well which is free from contamination. This alone should be a word of warning to the people of the district.

It might be argued that a well is situated on high ground, or that a well is located in the basement and that no water can possibly get into it. This might be true, but if you are using water from an ordinary or shallow well that water should be boiled before it is used for human consumption.

In most cases it is not the amount of water that seeps through the top of the well that does the most damage. It is the water that seeps into the ground, thus into the water supply, which does not filter through enough earth before it reaches the water stream that is the one to be on the look out for.

It is readily recognized that underlying the country there are networks of water streams which are tapped by drilling a hole into this water stream. Therefore it is reasonable to presume that if a water stream should become contaminated all the wells along that stream will produce water that is unfit for use.

Don't take chances—typhoid is a dreaded disease. Co-operate with the medical authorities by boiling all water if the water that you are using is obtained from a shallow well. A shallow well is one that is bored to a common depth of 50 feet or less, which most of the wells in the district are. PLAY SAFE—BOIL THAT WATER until the present emergency is over.

THAT DAYLIGHT SAVING QUESTION

There is little sense in such a topic as this one, but as there is to be no such thing as Daylight Saving Time in Alberta this year, a few comments have been heard and noted. It seems that with the non-adoption of the fast time system, the radio stations are the hardest hit. With such centres as New York, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver adopting fast time, it meant that all radio programmes originating from those centres have caused an upset to the local radio stations in this Province. From now until the early fall no one will be able to say just at what hour such-and-such a program will be heard.

One might say, well what of it? Why all the fuss just because a few radio programmes are not heard at the scheduled hour that we have been accustomed to? Well, actually there is nothing to it. But no one can deny that the radio has become one of our greatest pleasures and one of the most important medias of entertainment.

Of course the provincial government has decreed that no such thing as Daylight Saving Time shall be started in Alberta, and has made its decision known in no uncertain terms, providing stiff penalties for anyone, or any municipalities who are ambitious to start Daylight Saving in their community.

Whether this action was a vote catcher or not we do not know. It is certain that in an election year (and we presume that 1948 will be an election year in Alberta, although no announcement to this effect has come yet) the government has to look with favor on voters who might return them to office. The request for a no daylight saving idea came from one of the farmers' organizations for reasons effecting a goodly majority of the province.

As it now stands, no daylight saving—no extra hour of sunlight in the evenings throughout the length and breadth of Alberta. We do not imagine that anyone will suffer greatly, although that extra hour of daylight would have been welcomed by many.

THE MAN'S BUSINESS

by Ottawa Observer

As this is being written the debate in the House of Commons on freight rates is drawing to a close. It has been effective in bringing to light many factors of concern to Canada as a nation.

There was no serious attempt to deny that Canada's railroads needed, or would need this year, more revenue than the present freight rates would provide. There was a strong belief that the new revenue would not be raised equitably from all Canada. The government's action in instituting an enquiry into this feature of our whole freight rate structure showed its awareness of this issue.

A national policy

This debate on the freight rates has been the occasion of much searching and reviewing of Canadian history by observers. If histories are authentic, the Canadian Confederation was essential to prevent the separate British provinces from being swallowed one after another by the United States.

A look at the map of Canada shows that the natural flow of traffic for both the four Western provinces and the maritime provinces would be North and South to and from the United States. One of the policies worked out over a period of time was a system of railways running East and West to build a united Canada. This policy has had the effect of directing traffic from both coasts to the central provinces of Quebec and Ontario and thus creating two great industrial provinces of which Canada is proud. All seem to agree that the burden of this national policy should be carried equally by all Canadians and the investigation by the Board of Transport Commissioners should show the best method of bringing this about.

Provincial elections

Observers here are watching closely the political strategy in at least four provinces where elections are expected this summer. The campaign is already hot in Quebec where the Liberals are confident of beating the "Union Nationale" government of Mr. Duplessis. The Progressive Conservatives are not expected to enter the field at all.

Perhaps the greatest interest however is shown in the election campaign in Saskatchewan where the C.C.F. government is under heavy fire from Walter Tucker, Liberal Leader. The Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties are also in the field. While neither are expected to make any showing for themselves, the effect of the division of votes on the fortunes of the C.C.F. government and the Liberal opposition is the subject of much speculation here.

The communists are running only one candidate in the province where they claim to have a "better chance than the C.C.F." In all other constituencies they are strongly supporting the C.C.F. in the belief that the election of the C.C.F. is the first step toward communism.

The C.C.F. are very bitter about this development. Unfortunately for them this belief is shared by large numbers of people who are strongly anti-communist who point to the experience of Czechoslovakia and other European countries where this proved to be true in actual practice.

One serious charge made by Lt. Col. A. W. Embury—armed services representative in the provincial legislature—is that the C.C.F. government put out a great mass of "socialist propaganda" which it paid for out of the public treasury.

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

The farmer, or his father before him, bought his land at a fraction of its present value. Yet a plot of ground varies little from year to year. It remains in the same place under the same sun. It achieves no added value of itself. What makes it worth more is the courage and determination and the heart-breaking effort that is put into it. Or, take the man who starts a small business. He has nothing that anyone could not duplicate. He has an idea and a readiness to support it with money and thought and years of effort. We do not grudge him a return for their toil.

But, somehow, as undertakings grow larger, some men lose sight of this simple equation. The case then isn't that of a farmer or a small businessman, whose problems and whose efforts they can understand. The large business has become distant and impersonal, and its products appear as something else than the products of farmers or merchant. Mr. M. J. Coldwell is an intelligent man, yet he loses touch with this reality when he speaks on a bill to increase Bell Telephone stock. He cannot see the great as well as the small sharing a common right. "If people," he said, "are prepared to pay $102 for something that has a face value of $100 that, of course, is their business."

But face values aren't real values. The face value of the farm, by his reasoning, would be the original price paid for it, and of the business, the original investment. And what was the face value of Bell Telephone stock when it was pegged at $80? What made it worth more than what ever face value it might be given in the story of 75 years? Seventy-five years ago when young Graham Bell made the first call from his home on Tutuila Heights, near Brantford, in his neighbor's house, the telephone hadn't any face value. Even the people who watched the experiment thought of it only as a neat parlor trick. Nobody saw its real significance. Today in Canada there are almost two million phones, serving one in every fifteen homes, making life easier and its development possible. Somebody dreamed that dream. Somebody, indeed many people, took a long chance to make that dream come true. Without these original investors there would have been no telephone; without their successors those people, so foolish in Mr. Coldwell's eyes, who invested more than the face value, we would also be turning a crank on an antiquated contraption. It all adds up to the same effort and daring that made the farm and the business exceed their face value. Surely then it is entitled to the same reward.

A.M.A. Fights Move To Install Meters

Strong fight against the installation of parking meters in Edmonton was made by the local branch of the Alberta Motor Association. The city council has decided to install them for a year's experiment.

The branch maintains this will be only an additional levy on motorists now heavily tax burdened. It contends that meters have been revenue getting mediums in other cities and many have abandoned the system. In Edmonton, it is claimed by the A.M.A. branch that the meters will take $100,000 a year out of the motorists and still require the cost of policing to enforce regulations.

The branch maintains that the city should develop off-street parking areas. It has even considered the possibility of securing extra parking space itself in order to help relieve the situation.

Strong representations were made to the city council by the A.M.A. branch joined with other bodies to fight the installation of meters. It claimed that meters do not provide a solution for the parking problem.

Overseas Buyers Impressed By Furs

Canadian furs were displayed last month at the second International Fur and Leather Fair in Basle, Switzerland, in one of the most attractive exhibits of the show. Canada's exhibit made an impression surpassing all expectations, and many overseas buyers expressed their desire and intention of purchasing furs in this country as soon as the necessary foreign exchange could be made available. Arranged by the Department of Trade and Commerce, the Department of Agriculture and the Canadian Fur Fur Advertising Committee, the display which was flown to Switzerland from Montreal included pearl platinum and white marked furs, together with standard and mutation mink pelts in the new pastel colors. Exports at the Fair reported that the Canadian exhibit of garments and pelts was the most beautiful they had ever seen, and had they been for sale they could have been sold dozens of times over before the show began.

The Canadian fur trade benefits materially from the government grading system, because a prospective buyer of ranches for pelts may, with confidence, buy by grade without examining the pelts. For a few dollars, shillings, francs or Rm, he may send a cable to his broker in Canada, just as he would in purchasing stocks or bonds, with instructions that a certain number of pelts of specified grade be bought for his account. Individual ungraded fox furs carry a grade tag attached by the government inspector of the Fur Inspection and Grading Service, Department of Agriculture, which ensures that the overseas buyer receives uniform quality. It was the fur trade that originally opened up this country, and our oldest export industry is still doing much to keep the banner of Canadian quality high throughout the world.

MODERATION

... THE WISDOM OF MATURITY

True, we are a young country. In less than a century we have risen from colonial youth to nationhood of a stature enjoyed by no other people of our numbers.

Canada has earned

this. Through the years we have kept our sense of values... been moderate in our pleasures... moderate in our thinking.

Today, we continue to bear ourselves with the self-respect of a moderate people. We are moderate in our spending, in our thinking... moderate in our pleasures... moderate in all things.

We are young, yes. But we have come of age, for moderation is the wisdom of maturity.

Human Interest Stories

By Douglas W. Smith
Public Relations Officer,
Canadian Legion, HESL

Today I feel like crying in my beer. On my desk is a letter from a friend in London which reads, "You will be sorry to learn that Mother McFadden is dead."

Did you ever have someone in your life who died and even now you just can't believe they are dead and gone? That is the way Mother McFadden affects me. I can never visualize her as dead. Even in my strangest dreams I can never picture Mother McFadden as anything but hale and full of life.

Mother McFadden was a mother to hundreds of Canadian servicemen in Great Britain. She was a big woman who never seemed to move from her high stool sitting near the cash register in her pub on Edgeware Road. She could spot a homesteck lad in a crowd like a mother hen noting a sick chicken loitering in its scramble for the feed.

I first met her when I wandered into her pub one Saturday night early in 1941. I was feeling low. My regular 48 hour leave pal Johnny—well he just wouldn't be around any more. I was staring glumly into my mild and bitter when a voice said, "Hello, Canada."

I looked up and stared straight into the sparkling and friendliest blue eyes. They seemed to say, "Well, well, chum, it can't be that bad, come and have a talk with me."

I talked to her for awhile. Soon a recit was by my side placed there by a barmaid who received a signal I never saw.

In five minutes I was gabbling away about myself, my home and fishing pictures out of my wallet.

"Play darts?" she asked. Alongside the bar were some English men and women playing the game. I affirmed I had a shaky knowledge of the art. I had a shaky knowledge of the art. I had a shaky knowledge of the art.

"Hol, George, I have a friend of mine from Canada I'd like you to meet," she called to a mustached chap in tweed.

Well, the next thing I knew I was being introduced all around and playing the game.

The night passed well as did many another there.

But Mother McFadden although she always had a pleasant word for me never concentrated the same on me again. She seemed to have the air that she had put me on my feet there. Her eyes seemed to be constantly roving for another stray to be brought into the fold. Goodness knows just how many lads she looked after this way.

In these troubled times I often think how nice it would be if we had more Mother McFaddens around. I don't suppose she ever glanced through Dale Carnegie's book on winning friends. She just seemed to be born beaming out the Golden Rule. I just can't believe she's gone.

Hints for the Household

WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE FOR DESSERT?

Dessert is the trimming on the meal. It is not necessary but adds greatly to the general effect. Personal preferences differ greatly and the last course may vary from the savoury to rich sweet puddings.

The type of dessert served should suit the main course. If that part of the meal is substantial the dessert may be a light fluffy one. On the other hand, if a cream soup or a salad is the main course the dessert might well be a cobbler or a steamed pudding. With a vegetable plate, a custard or other dessert with plenty of eggs would round out an excellent meal.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have many good ideas for desserts.

Cream Puffs A La Chibault

Be Ready for Trouble

For almost every flower, fruit, vegetable and shrub, it seems there is a special insect or disease. Few indeed are free from attack and many have severe enemies. The best defense is healthy growth and good care. It is comparatively easy to control damage in a clean, well cultivated garden of husky growth, but it is a big problem where the plants are not doing well and where there are a lot of weeds and other rubbish to protect and help propagate bugs and diseases.

Fortunately for the garden enemies there are dusts and sprays specially prepared to deal with them. For the bugs that eat holes in the foliage use DDT. For those that suck out the juices causing the plant to wither attack with a spray that will burn. Disease usually hits the plant cells and causes withering or rot in blackish spots. Chemicals like sulphur are used in this case. Often one good treatment will be enough but with things like leaf hoppers and potato bugs which lay eggs, two or three successive treatments to get the young ones will be needed. Most chemicals lose their potency in time so a fresh supply each season is advisable.

No Rush Yet
Most people are inclined to rush planting. It is perfectly all right to put a few things in early, but it is also important to keep planting until well into the summer. Only in this way do we get a long harvest of either bloom or fresh vegetables.

Go at the job gradually, advise those who know, get the soil properly prepared and enjoy a succession of bloom and fresh vegetables.

Beets, carrots, beans, spinach lettuce, radish, etc., can be planted every other week or so right up to late June, and the harvest will be spread accordingly. Flowers, too, can be spread over several weeks. Some things, however, like grass seed, nursery stock, garden peas, sweet peas, are best all planted early. But bedding plants like petunias, sinias, stocks, spider plants, tomatoes, cabbage, etc. should not be set out until all danger of frost is over. Tender things like gladiolus, cannas, melons, squash corn etc. also come in this category.

The Right Tools
A few tools especially designed for particular jobs will greatly ease the hard work.

Recommended are the three and five-pronged hand-drawn cultivators, Dutch hoe, narrow hoe, weed squids, edging tools, digging forks and others. These are designed to get in corners and close to growing plants. Tools should be kept sharp. An old file will do the job. To keep clean and free from rust, wash two or three times into a pail or tub of kerosene oil with sand into which some old crank case oil has been dumped.

CALL FOR CHANGE

Admitting that much speculation is taking place these days about "mankind of tomorrow," National Health officials warn that all the wizardry of science won't change the type of people on this globe until it works its wonders with current generations. Man, they say, will be cast in the same old mould, with all his human failings, until he can pass on better mental and physical characteristics than he has inherited. That is why, in their opinion, those now living must progress if there is to be hope for their children.

There may have been a time when many people could have only rough and thick crockery and rude eating utensils, but, today, anyone can afford some delicate dishes and attractive cutlery. According to the health people specializing in food, such table appointments will go a government nutritionists. They say long way to making a meal a pleasure that a table setting should be as which means that food will do one as much as what one puts in the all the more good.

CUTLERY COUNTS

"Taste" applies to more than mere palate-pleasing. In the opinion of such table appointments will go a government nutritionists. They say long way to making a meal a pleasure that a table setting should be as which means that food will do one as much as what one puts in the all the more good.

Notice to Ratepayers

OF M.D. No. 61

The Municipal District has been confronted with the largest snow removal expenditure since the amalgamation and the cost has already taken a large cut into the 1948 Public Works allocations.

The spring run off is bound to do much damage to graded roads and the Council ask the cooperation of each and every ratepayer to help preserve the grades by opening and cleaning the end of culverts, etc., and diverting water courses where same are found to be cutting across the roadways, so that washouts on graded roads and repair costs can be kept at a minimum, allowing the 1948 tax dollar to be used for graveling and construction.

1,400 pounds of butterfat in one year, from 27,745 pounds of 5.00% milk. That's the record that won the title of world champion producer for Alcatraz Gerben, five-year-old purebred Holstein owned by Hays Ltd., Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

"Alcatraz Gerben has been milked with a McCormick-Deering Milker for 10 months of her record-shattering performance," says Harry Hays, president of Hays Ltd., "and as far as we know, this is the first time a record has been made by a cow milked with a milking machine... We have been using a McCormick-Deering Milker for our herd of purebred Holsteins for the last seven years and have been well satisfied with its service and performance."

N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH

FIRST FLOOR

SECOND FLOOR

A six-room house providing maximum accommodation within a minimum area, this "N.H.A. Design-Of-The-Month" selection is suitable for construction anywhere in Canada. The popular, single-story and a half type, which utilizes the attic space for two large bedrooms, it features a multi-use room, which could be used as a dining room, den, study or occasional bedroom. The adjacent closet space serves as a passage or as a closet, depending on the room use.

The house requires a lot frontage of 42 feet with a driveway, and 40 feet without a driveway. Exterior dimensions are 28 feet by 24 feet 6 inches while the floor area, for estimating purposes, is 1,038 square feet. A full basement is provided.

Under the terms of the National Housing Act, 1944, financial assistance is available to Canadians wishing to build new houses such as the one illustrated.

Corner windows which add to the view from the interior, give more wall space for furniture placing and a modern touch to the exterior of this popular plan. Access to the basement and the kitchen is by a side service door. Usually located in the front vestibule, the coat closet has been shifted to the rear hall where it is more readily accessible to the rear entrance. With the bathroom also handy, children coming in from playing may be washed, and their clothes hung in the closet without tracking through the house.

Of frame construction, the house may be finished in stucco with gables having vertical wood boarding, or it may be all of stucco or other approved exterior finish. If masonry or solid masonry construction is desired, the outside overall dimensions of the house and minimum lot frontage dimension must be increased by approximately one foot.

Complete construction drawings for this plan, known as Plan No. 47-3, are available from General Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

A HELPING HAND

During April, Uncle Hal of the Kiddies Program had a visitor—a little boy, Jimmy Bennett of Morinville, who is nine years old. Although this sounds like an everyday occurrence, it isn't because Jimmy is not like other little boys of his own age. He is going blind. Little Jimmy has never been to school.

At the age of three, he lost the sight in his right eye and shortly after that his other eye became affected and has been gradually getting worse. Since that time Little Jimmy has been from one doctor's office to another, but none of them can help him—his only hope is the Mayo Clinic in Rochester; but Jimmy comes from a modest family, and Rochester is a long way off.

After hearing this story, Uncle Hal once again asked his listeners to help raise funds to make this trip possible and his fans have come forth with marvelous support. To date enough money has been raised for train fare to Rochester, and everyone feels confident it will not be too long before Jimmy can receive proper treatment.

The Winnipeg Red Flyers answered the call for help by donating $10 to the Little Jimmy Fund and the whole team gave him their autographs. Thanks to Uncle Hal's fans, better days are not too far off for this

Gasoline Tax Yield To Exceed $7,200,000

Alberta motorists contributed approximately $7,200,000 to the provincial treasury during the year ended March 31 in fuel oil or gasoline tax, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association. This was an increase of more than $1,000,000 over the previous year.

The main reason for the record revenue during the past year was the increase in the gasoline tax from seven to nine cents per gallon. When the additional tax was decided upon, the government announced that the revenue from this increase would be used specifically for hard surfacing of main highways.

Last year the province voted $18,000,000 for its highway expenditures and a similar sum has been provided for the current year. Thus it will be seen that more than half of this revenue is obtained from the gasoline tax.

On the whole the government is spending more on highways than what it collects in revenue from motorists, including car license. This policy has been commended by the A.M.A. which has urged that it be continued.

Better Hay Pasture From Seed Mixtures

As wind and water gnaw at western soil, prairie farmers are well advised to use more of their land for hay and pasture. This advice comes from H. Burgess of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Indian Head, Sask.

As wind and water gnaw at western soil, prairie farmers are well advised to use more of their land for hay and pasture. This advice comes from H. Burgess of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Indian Head, Sask.

The best value in western forage crops is in a mixture of grasses and alfalfa. At Indian Head, mixture yield much more than do grasses sown alone. For hay, grasses in the mixture speed the curing of alfalfa. For pasture, grasses in the mixture lower the risk of alfalfa bloat.

Mixing satisfactorily with alfalfa are bromes grass, slender wheat grass and crested wheat grass. The best of these mixtures tested at Indian Head is bromes-alfalfa. Bromes matures late enough to combine with alfalfa for good hay. As the best pasture grass for the Indian Head area, it has its value enhanced by the addition of alfalfa. The seeding rate of this mixture is six to twelve pounds of alfalfa and two to five pounds of bromes per acre, the lower rates being for the drier areas.

The same rate of sowing applies to a mixture of slender wheat grass and alfalfa. Slender wheat is a short-lived perennial and does not produce as long as bromes. It is, however, ready to cut at the same time as alfalfa, combining with it to make good hay.

Crested wheat grass, ready to maturity ahead of alfalfa, and is too old for good hay by the time alfalfa can be harvested, but when for pasture, this drought resistant, sod forming grass is mixed with alfalfa, its feeding value is improved. Crested wheat grass at six pounds and alfalfa at two pounds per acre is a good seeding mixture, with a lower rate for drier dry areas.

No matter which of these mixtures the farmer selects, he should sow it just as soon as he can get on the land. But sowing of forage crops should be shallow, warns Mr. Burgess no deeper than an inch.

TAME TURNOVER
Bodden and bread make a bitter brew, National Health officers point out that such distractions at meal-times as horse-play, bickering and nagging produce poor appetite and are particularly unfortunate when children are at table. They develop poor eating habits and repugnance for a period which should be the most satisfying and profitable of the day. Tranquility must prevail at meals if we want our food to make, and keep, us fit, the doctors point out.

The Case for Seed Treatment

The kind of crop Western Canada is going to harvest in 1948 depends in no small measure on what kind of seed farmers plant this Spring. Farmers should not only be interested in the quality and purity of the seed they sow in 1948 but also in its freedom from disease.

Seed Treatment Needed. During the last few years Line Elevators Farm Service has examined thousands of farmers' seed samples of wheat, oats, barley and flax. These extensive seed tests have clearly indicated that a very large proportion of the seed-grain that is sown each year in Western Canada carries disease-producing organisms, or is damaged by weathering or threshing, in sufficient amount to make seed treatment positively necessary. Therefore, the best advice we can give to a farmer is this. Take no chances! Unless you know your seed is undamaged and free of smut and other diseases, treat it.

Seed-Treating Methods. The seed disinfectants (fungicides) recommended for the control of surface-borne smut and other seed-borne diseases of wheat, oats and barley, and for the treatment of flax, are the organic mercury dusts (Cresan, Leptocan, etc.). For small grain crops the rate of application is ½ ounce per bushel of seed; for flax, the rate is 1½ ounces per bushel. Seed of these crops can be safely treated months before it is needed for sowing. It is important, however, to store such treated seed in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place. For best results, wheat seed should be treated at least 24 hours before planting. On the other hand, the seed of oats, barley and flax should be treated at least 7 days before it is sown.

Remember that the organic mercury dusts are poisonous. The precautions given by the manufacturer should be strictly observed. Seed treated with an organic mercury dust should not be used for food purposes, or for to livestock. For further information on seed treatment consult your local Agricultural Representative, or write to Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg.

Handling Package Bees

Alberta's Provincial Apiarist, W. G. McAllister, suggests care in the handling of package bees on arrival. Before placing them in the hive the bees should be neither chilled nor over-heated—a temperature between 60 and 70° F. is about right.

Feeding the bees before releasing them from the package makes them more docile and seems to get them established and settled in the hive more quickly and with less danger of their killing the queen. The easiest way to do this is to sprinkle sugar syrup on the screen. Lay the package on its side and sprinkle the syrup liberally on the screen, then turn the package over and do the same on the other side. The bees will soon drink up the syrup from the screen and get themselves. Perhaps a cupful can be fed to them this way. The main thing is to get the bees as full as possible before putting them into the hive.

One word of warning in connection with this kind of feeding—don't do it to bees that are cold. They must be warm and able to move about freely. If the bees are cold they will not take up the syrup and will die.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture has a bulletin that should be in the hands of every beekeeper at this time of year. "Care of Package Bees in Alberta" is the name of the bulletin. A copy may be had from District Agriculturalists or from the Provincial Apiarist, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Soil Drifting Control

Soil drifting, although less evident during the past few years than during the early thirties, was recorded for nine of the past ten years by the Dominion Experimental Station at Regina. Most of this drifting occurred before spring tillage on land summer-fallowed the previous year, but stubble fields which had been burned in the spring frequently drifted before being cultivated and seeded. The recurrence of soil drifting year after year, plus the realization that drier years will come, indicate the importance of adhering to those farming practices which protect the soil, says E. S. Molberg, Dominion Experimental Farm, Indian Head, Sask.

At the Regina Substation a number of practices designed to control soil drifting on summerfallow land are being compared. Of these, retaining the stubble, as a trash cover has been the most satisfactory method under average conditions, and farmers in the district generally cultivate their summerfallow with this object in mind.

Cover crops sown on summerfallow about August 1 were usually effective, but under conditions of drought or grasshopper infestation, when protection was most needed, satisfactory stands were difficult to establish.

The practice of leaving a late fall growth of weeds to protect the soil from drifting was less satisfactory than a stubble trash cover, or cover crops. A sufficiently uniform cover was seldom obtained, and the weeds rapidly decayed at the ground surface and were blown about by strong winds.

Spreading straw in the fall was very effective in preventing soil drifting on summerfallow, especially when diked lightly to anchor the straw. However, a reduction in yields the following year usually resulted from this practice. Spreading straw should be a useful emergency treatment where soil drifting seems likely to occur during the winter or spring.

FOOT INFECTIONS

A serious problem in dairy sports and industries is fungus infection of the feet, popularly known as "athlete's foot". It thrives in showers and locker rooms where warmth and moisture encourages propagation of the fungi. Troublesome symptoms of the disease include an intolerable itching, swelling, redness, cracks in the skin and small blisters. The skin between the toes is moist and rubs off easily. Regular disinfection of floors, provision of special footwear such as wooden clogs for use in shower rooms, and foot-bath disinfectants are suggested to meet the problem.

Barbara Ann Scott was not the first Canadian to win a world championship in figure skating. Louis Rubenstein of Montreal won a world title in St. Petersburg 58 years ago.

Time Out For Laughs

He was being sued in the Divorce Court, and an important allegation under the cruelty cause made by his wife was that he had not spoken to her for three years.

"Is it really a fact," asked the judge, "that you have not spoken to your wife for three years?"

The husband admitted that such was the case.

"But why, why haven't you spoken to her all this long time?" persisted his lordship.

And the husband replied quietly, "I didn't like to interrupt."

Fewer Combines Will Go South of the Border This Year

Due to considerable reduction in the harvest of grain crops in the United States, fewer Canadian combines will cross the border to assist in harvesting operations there during the spring and summer. It was announced today by Honourable Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour.

Mr. Mitchell stated that it was not yet known how many Canadian combines would be needed for the harvest in the States but U.S. authorities had indicated that the number would certainly be reduced this year. He stated the Department of Labour had been asked to report that some farmers, who had been granted harvesting immigration permits last year and who wanted to return again this year would probably have to forego the trip. Certainly, Canadians should not commit themselves to the purchase of expensive harvesting equipment with a view to employing it in the United States. Mr. Mitchell warned. The Minister explained that entry into the United States will be restricted by U.S. authorities. However, a meeting is being held in Kansas City on May 4 which will be attended by all small-grains growing States, the Dominion Department of Labour and representatives of interested provinces. At this meeting, a reasonably accurate estimate will be made of the number of Canadian combines required for harvesting across the border.

A meeting was held recently in Winnipeg in connection with the combine movement, attended by representatives of the U.S. Department of Labour, the Canadian Immigration Department, the three Prairie Provinces, the Unemployment Insurance Commission (Prairie Region) and the Dominion Department of Labour. It was stated quite definitely by U.S. officials that the crops in the United States would be considerably smaller than last year.

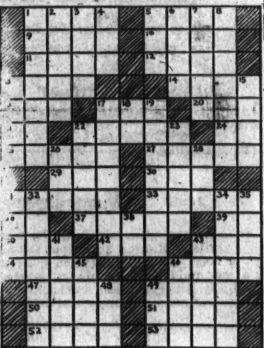

After interprovincial discussion, it was agreed that the allotment of combines allowed to each province for U.S. harvests would be: Saskatchewan 55 per cent, Alberta 23 per cent, and Manitoba 22 per cent, and the remaining two per cent to be divided between Ontario and British Columbia.

It was pointed out that many Western people were buying combines this year in the expectation that they would be permitted to go to the United States for the harvest. Estimates by provinces were that the total number of applications for permits might amount to between 2,400 and 3,000, and it was expected that a considerable percentage of those desiring to go would have to be refused permits.
